

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A method of adhering a coating of a polymer, metal, metalloid oxide or fluorinated derivatives thereof to an electrical or opto-electronic surface comprising applying to said surface, as an adhesion promoter, a hybrid organic-inorganic material.

2. The method of claim 1, wherein said inorganic portion of said hybrid material comprises silicon.